Dear Reader,

Come to the library every week! We miss seeing the upper half of your face. This is a great time of year to check out one of our games.

Don't get stuck playing Candyland, try playing some of the HABA games like Little Orchard, or Settlers of Catan Junior. Ticket to Ride, Carcassone, or Wingspan (Boardgamegeek's game of the year) are great for families with older kids. Codenames Duet is perfect for couples who like crossword puzzles. We have Bocce, Kubb and KanJam, to enjoy brisk fall days outdoors.

Hoopla, available as an app on your phone, has The Great Courses audiobooks which are just amazing. For those of you who are in the book discussion group, it also has I am Malala as an ebook.

Keep safe and keep reading.

Maggie "MG" Gaier is over-the-moon excited to join the staff at Jonathan Trumbull Library as the new Youth Services Librarian.

As a Lebanon native, MG grew up in the stacks and storytimes of JTL, volunteering and thumbing through the ol' card catalogue in the late 1990s-early 2000s. After graduating from Lyman, she lived on the Mississippi River in Rock Island, Illinois, while studying Global Ethnography, French, and Chinese, at Augustana College. Now residing in Windham, MG spends her time with her spouse, Jaron, and two children, Isador and Raymond. Together, they forage for mushrooms in the woods, take care of their goats, pigs, ducks, rabbits, crested gecko, cats, and dog (!), and dance to the Talking Heads while cooking too much food and doing too few dishes. MG looks forward to meeting you all!
